

MINNESOTA WOODTURNERS

A S S O C I A T I O N

in association with the American Association of Woodturners

June 2008

One of the Highlights of MWA meetings is the “show and tell” portion. Where members bring in there projects to share with there fellow members. Beginner, intermediate or expert, doesn’t matter, its all about sharing ideas.

Wayne Keifer shared this white oak bowl at our May meeting.

President's Corner

Jim Zangl

Dan Rominski, our VP and former program director, has organized a number of fine learning opportunities for us over the course of the upcoming year. The next meeting will be at Alan and Mary Lacer's home on June 7, where we will see Alan turn a regulation baseball bat. He has not yet said whether it will be made out of ash or maple. Ash is nostalgic, but maple is the 'popular' custom wood in the majors these days, although I have heard that the commissioner's office is looking into the possibility of banning maple due to the way it breaks. At any rate, this will be a preview for the picnic challenge.

Make a bat for the picnic in August, large or small, baseball or softball, and win a prize. And remember - not all bats are created equal. Just take a look at some of the bats turned by Mark Sfirri. While I doubt that even Barry Bonds could get a hit with one, they show that a subject can be approached from many angles, or even off center.

In an effort to promote wood turning education and to foster club participation, the board has made scholarships available for three individual members to attend a one day hands-on workshop. One of the reasons for having a club like ours is the sharing of knowledge among those wanting to learn, no matter what their level. Unfortunately, sometimes financial considerations may prevent a person from choosing to attend a hands-on session with one of the fine and talented professional turners/teachers whom the club brings in for your benefit. We try to keep the costs down by absorbing a portion of the demonstration fee, but the hands-on fee has been largely self paying. Realizing this may unnecessarily limit those who can attend, the board has voted to open up three one day hands-on session spots to the membership in the form of an educational grant. The only requirement will be the offering up of some of your time and energy in return. Volunteer a service to the club, perhaps in the form of scheduling and organizing a hands-on session for four or more members, or suggest some other activity and get it Okayed thru the board. Work thru Lisa Botten, our hands-on coordinator, and Carole Magnuson, our volunteers in service coordinator, to set things up.

We are hoping to make the professional instruction available to a larger audience and offer a greater incentive to volunteer by this action. Take advantage of it. Jimmy Clews will be back July 18-22 for a Saturday demo plus two workshops, in August Don Derry will be offering a seminar, later Nick Cook and then Johannes Michelsen will be here, so there will be ample opportunity to get involved in a hands-on session.

One more thing, for those who do not know; Mr. Michelsen turns hats in most any shape and style - cowboy hats, derbies, baseball caps, top hats, and fedoras. Before his demonstration there will be an auction. The winner of the auction will get to choose the style of hat to be turned, have his or her head measured, have the hat turned to fit, and get to keep the turning. What a deal!

See you at the next meeting
Jim

Dear MN Woodturners,

Thank you very much for your donation of $200.00 to the Ukraine Project. We raised over $2,500.00 and Jim Sannerud left for the Ukraine knowing he could make any additions of equipment and supplies that he felt the orphans could use. One of the orphanages wanted to turn bowls and plates that the children could use for their daily meals.

We have received reports that all of the equipment was there from last year and that conditions in the orphanages were much improved. When Jim returns, he will be writing an article about his trip foot the Journal and we will see that you get a copy of it.

Also, if you were one of the people that donated tops, Jim received well over 450 tops so they were able to put a top in every gift packet for each of the children, as well as having some available to give as gifts when they do home visits

Best Regards
Mary Lacer

Dan Rominski has moved into the office of Vice President. He has been our Program Director since taking over for Jim Jacobs.

He has worked hard at providing the club with the best in demonstrators and he has succeeded admirably. As VP he would like someone else to assist as program director, learning from the master and allowing for a seamless transition into next year. If you are interested in lending a hand, e-mail or call Dan or one of the board.

Monthly Wood raffle

The wood raffle is a great tradition for our club. It acts as a fund raiser plus it allows all of us to experience a variety of woods. When you select wood to bring for the raffle bring only the best. If it is cracked, or "punky" put it in the fireplace. Bring the best wood you have and you can expect to get the best wood in return.

JUNE CLUB MEETING AND DEMONSTRATION BY ALAN LACER: TOPIC – BASEBALL BAT CHALLENGE

Saturday June 7, 2008

Time: 9:00 AM - 1:00 PM + +

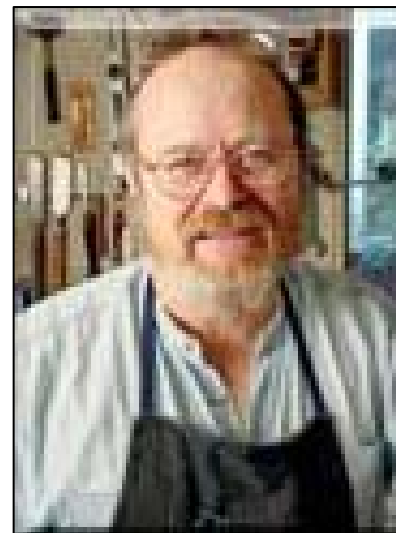

Fee: FREE

Location: Alan & Mary Lacer's

299 Plainview Drive

River Falls, WI, 54022

Phone: 715-426-9451

Simple directions: Take Highway 94 eastbound over the St. Croix River bridge into Wisconsin. Take the second exit (the one at the top of the hill)-which is Carmichael Road/ County Road F. Follow County Road F to the south. Plainview Drive is located just past the Troy Burne Golf Course. Turn right (west) and Lacer's will be on your left.

LOOK FOR THE TURQUOISE MAILBOX!

<http://maps.google.com/maps?sc=1&hl=en&output=html&q=299+Plainview+Drive%2C+River+Falls%2C+WI+54022&btnG=Search>

Parking could be somewhat challenging at Lacer's. Carpooling is encouraged. A Park and Ride lot is located near the Target store in Hudson. Also, the Home Depot in Hudson has a very large parking lot.

Details:

The June MWA Club meeting will be held at the home and studio of our own resident professional woodturner, Alan Lacer. Weather permitting, the demonstration will be held outside. Please bring your own lawn chairs! After the event we are planning to have a Barbecue Picnic lunch. Please bring your own meat to grill. The club will provide some side dishes and the essentials. We will have the Video Library, do a Wood Raffle and have Show and Tell as well.

As if that is not enough, we will also be having a "TOOL SWAP" flea market! It's a good time to get your garages and workshops cleaned out, so bring any items you no longer need, and perhaps someone else may have a use for them. Please mark your items with your name and asking price on a piece of tape, and be prepared to barter!

We are all very fortunate to have Alan so very close to us. Every time we have the opportunity to take in one of his demonstrations, we should consider ourselves lucky, for he has so much knowledge to pass on, and is an extraordinary teacher to boot! This is also your opportunity to visit Alan Lacer's home workshop!

In this demonstration, Alan will give us some background history on the making of bats and Louisville Slugger, as well as teach us how to make a baseball/softball bat. If you would like to do a little background reading, see Alan's article "From Bedposts to Baseball Bats" in the Summer 2007 issue of the American Woodturner. Freehand turning of a long, straight bat is a wonderful challenge for a turner. Whether it's for baseball or softball, this challenging project will definitely help you refine your tool control. In addition, Alan would like to show us the new Vicmarc Oval Chuck in action. This amazing new chuck allows the turner to create oval shaped bowls, platters, boxes. etc.

This will be our demonstration for our next club challenge. And don't worry if you only have a mini-lathe. We will have a separate division for mini-bats! We will judge our bats at the MWA Club Picnic, held on August 17th at the Bayport Park on the beautiful St. Croix River. Craft Supplies gift certificates will be awarded to for 1st, 2nd, and 3rd place for each division – regulation size and mini's. This should be a very fun and action packed event that you won't want to miss!

TURNAROUND, TURN IT ON, TURN IT UP!

DO IT AGAIN! THE RETURN OF JIMMY CLEWES

Monday-Tuesday July 21-22, 2008 (Fee $150)

The Minnesota Woodturners Association is pleased to announce the return of British Woodturner Jimmy Clewes! Last year's club demonstration hands-on workshops were such an overwhelming success, that we have arranged to bring Jimmy back for another visit this year. Jimmy will do a one day club demonstration on Saturday July 19th, at the Hope Presbyterian Church in Richfield. If you attended the event last year, you know you won't want to miss this demonstration!

This year we have added a little different twist to the hands-on workshop lineup. We will have two one day sessions and one two day session. These classes are filling up fast. If you would like to reserve a space, please contact Dan Rominski at drominski@comcast.net. Please note that the location for our hands-on workshops has changed. Jim Sannerud has rented a new shop space, located in the ACVR Warehouse (Falwell Osmond Kirk Co.) at 106 West Water Street, Suite #3 (3rd Floor), St. Paul, MN 55107. This is a large brick warehouse building just across the Wabasha Bridge from downtown St. Paul.

ROMANCING THE CURVE! THE RETURN OF DON DERRY!

The Minnesota Woodturners Association is pleased to announce the return of Don Derry! Last year's club demonstration hands-on workshops were such an overwhelming success that we have arranged to bring Don back for another visit this year.

Don will be teaching his shape and form class titled "Romancing the Curve." This year we have added a little different twist to the hands-on workshop lineup. We will have a one day session and a two day session, and no demonstration. This is your opportunity for first-hand training. These classes are filling up fast. If you would like to reserve a space, please contact Dan Rominski at drominski@comcast.net

Romancing the Curve

Class Description

This is a two-day class that will focus on taking the mystery out of the creative process. We will learn a "building block" approach to thinking about Woodturning that will simplify the understanding of what good shape and form is and how to apply it. We will explore, through our hands with chips flying, many different ways to be objective about shape and form. We begin by turning a sphere between centers using only the eye as a guide. The day will then progress by turning form models of many different elemental shapes. We will explore egg forms, pear shapes and cones on the first day. The second day will be an exploration of how these basic forms can be used as the building blocks of more complicated forms and integrated into almost any turning endeavor that can be imagined. Upon completion of the course participants shall have a much better understanding of how their own creative decision making process works and how to apply this new understanding to more easily produce works in their own studios. Participants will also have produced eight to ten form study models that they can have for reference in the future. As an added bonus, on the second day of the two-day class, Don will teach airbrush techniques. The one day class will contain much of the same, but obviously will need to be somewhat abbreviated, and will not allow Don to get into as much depth with the students.

This is an intermediate level class. All participants should have reasonable experience with a roughing gouge and a half-inch spindle gouge. The tools required for the class shall include a 1-inch or larger roughing gouge, a half-inch spindle gouge and a parting tool. Participants are encouraged to bring any other tools that may help adapt their personal style. Feel free to bring along your own woodturnings if you wish to have Don critique them.

Please note that the location for the hands-on workshops is at Bob Jensen's Shop in Fridley.

A new Lathe, a few friends and a lot of shavings!

Saturday Chris Meadows set up his new lathe. Brad Hubert, Steve Vadnais, Jim Zangl and Paul Grotenhuis came by to help him break in the new lathe. Brad brought along a few pieces of recently liberated maple that was used to make wood ribbons.

Here Brad is showing how things are done.

MWA "Members Only" Forum

All MWA members are entitled to use our "Members Only Forum". The forum is located at <http://www.mnwoodturners.com/members/> (or you can go to <http://www.mnwoodturners.com> and click on the Forum option on the menu). If you have not already registered, click on the link, and after the page loads, click on the words "register an account". Then just follow the instructions to get registered for the forum.

The many benefits include a central archive of information and handouts, a gallery to show off your turnings, central listing of club event announcements, and finally, a great place to get acquainted with other members and share mutual turning topics. One other thing, PLEASE don't be hesitant to ask questions on the forum. As many people have said over the years, the only silly question is the one not asked!

Thanks, and see you on the forum!

New Article feature

“How do YOU do it?”

The MWA is excited to start a new continuous series of articles featuring You! Beginning with the next newsletter, August 2008, we will begin running a series of articles featuring a specified topic, announced in the previous newsletter. All YOU have to do to make this article successful is send in your pictures, comments, articles, tips or whatever you can to address the “topic of the month” . Those tips will be featured in the next article. If you have topic suggestions, comments or questions please send them to: Jeff Luedloff, jefflued@peoplepc.com or mail to Jeff Luedloff, 1177 Clover Court, Shakopee, MN 55379.

“Topic of the Month” for August 2008:

How do you support a dust collection hood at your lathe without it getting in the way?

Send your pictures and tips before July 20th to: Jeff Luedloff, jefflued@peoplepc.com or mail to Jeff Luedloff, 1177 clover court, Shakopee, MN 55379, and look for the tips in August!

Email Alert !!!!

Our current MWA 'Email Blast' list shows approx. 27 members that do not have a valid email address on our club files and therefore, they are not receiving our numerous 'Blast' messages each month.

If you have an email address, but are not receiving our 'Blasts' please contact me so we can update our data base. It may be that you currently do not have internet and email capabilities; if that changes and you want to be included please contact me.
